Displays and Exhibits Policy

As an educational and cultural institution, the Roeliff Jansen Community Library welcomes exhibits and displays of interest, information, and enrichment to the community. Displays of art, crafts, historical material, nature study, or any other materials or items deemed of general interest may be exhibited.

Applications to exhibit and samples of work should be sent to Director. Applications will be reviewed and accepted based on their suitability and availability of space.

All accepted works should be ready for display, including, if applicable, being framed and wired and ready for hanging. Exhibitors are responsible for the installation and removal of their displays. Staff will be available to help and supervise. Displays may include information about the exhibit and the exhibitor. The Library does not provide porter service, storage space, or special furnishings. In general, each exhibit will remain posted for four to six weeks.

The Library does not carry insurance on art or any other items loaned to the Library for display and exhibit. All exhibitors must sign a release and an insurance waiver before any art or item can be displayed in the Library.

The Library assumes no responsibility for the preservation or protection, and no liability for damage or theft of any art, materials, or items displayed or exhibited. Everything placed on display in the Library is there at the owner’s risk.

The exhibit rooms are multi-functional. Exhibits cannot in any way disrupt the normal routine of the library. Meetings, programs, or other events may be held in the space concurrent with any exhibition.
Should the artist wish to sell their work, proceeds of artwork sold are paid directly to the Library. The Library keeps 30% of the sale price and pays the artist the balance.
